Foreword

The printed word — bearer of dormant thoughts — all-encompassing, all-enduring! From its place on stone, parchment, or paper, it reaches out to the world, spokesman for each nation . . . our triumphs extolled . . . our failures mourned . . . our hopes answered . . . our fears forgotten. The tongue-less word speaks to those who follow us. May the printed word always reveal, extoll, and inform — never demean!

Co-operation at its Best!

There is a "beehive" on the corner of Madison Avenue and Sixth Street. Here, a product much more valuable than wax or honey is produced, for this "hive" is the nucleus of the Plainfield educational system. This "beehive" houses the Plainfield Board of Education and the offices of the Superintendent. All its members are "workers", and they work diligently and long to give us the outstanding education offered by our school.

The Board of Education functions in every facet of the school; the hiring of faculty members, the upkeep of school buildings, and the purchase of supplies are just a few of its many duties.

The "boss" of the hive is Mr. Victor J. Podesta, Superintendent, assisted by Dr. Clayton R. Brower, Assistant Superintendent. These men head one of the most beneficial organizations in the city because there are few things more important than the education of today's youth; therefore, we extend sincere thanks to them and to everyone on the Board for making our school what it is today.

Administration

Dependability Plus!

During our four years at Plainfield High School, the administrative staff has done much to develop a smooth-running system.

Our principal, Mr. Gleason, has shown a great ability to communicate with us students while giving us the leadership we need. Although this was Mr. Gleason's first year as principal of Plainfield High School, his friendly and outgoing personality has helped us to know him better.

It has been our privilege to have Dr. Francis as our vice-principal for the past three years. In 1960, after the unexpected death of Mr. Held, our principal, Dr. Francis meritoriously carried out the duties of the principal.

Mr. Banta, our administrative assistant, has been responsible for the care of our physical plant, among numerous other duties. We can always depend upon him for a helping hand.

We appreciate the work that has been done by this staff to make our school the best possible.

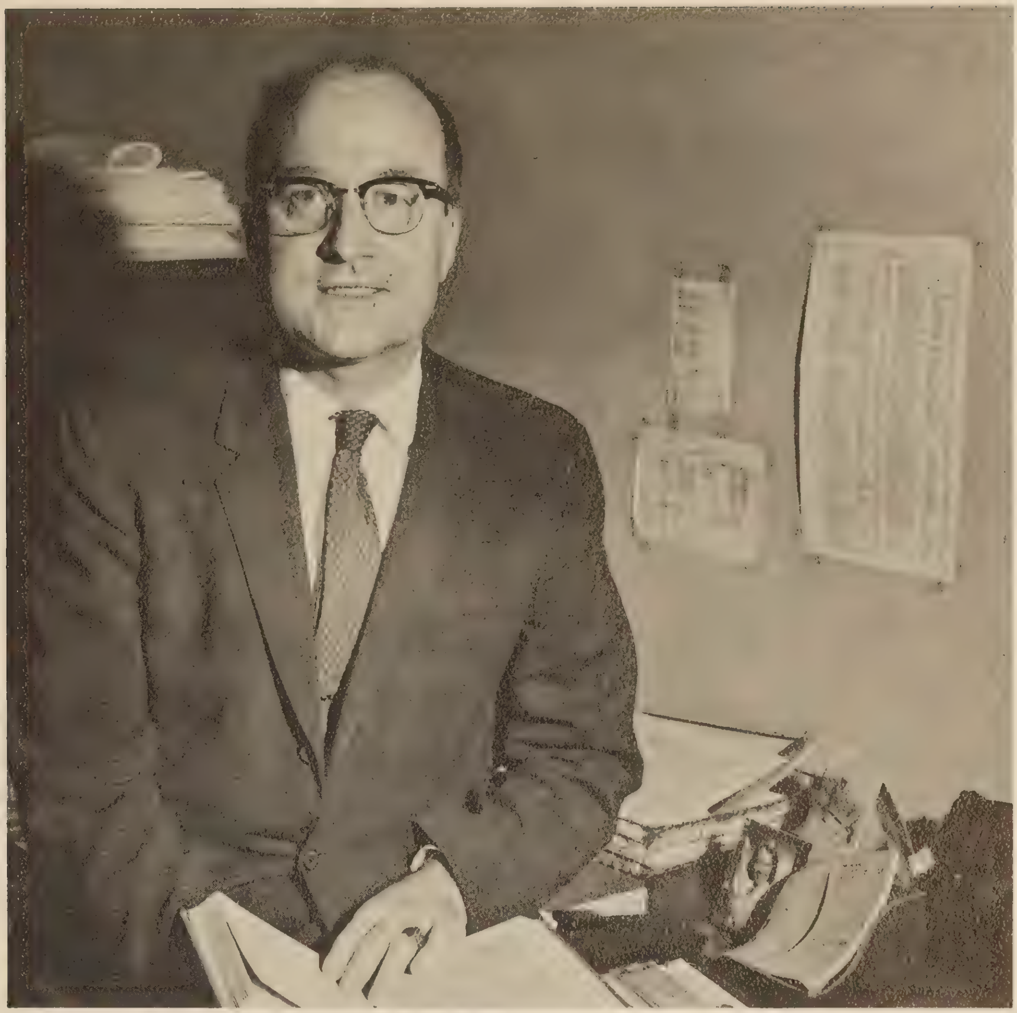
WALLACE F. GLEASON, Principal

Principal's Message

It is during this great period of change that strength is needed. You, the students who complete your secondary education this year, will take with you the knowledge of a challenge of life's problems and the satisfaction of successful completion of your work. You may be proud of the part you played in the years of your stay. When you reflect, you will remember that the school was torn by a division of educational training, and you help to remold it. The loss of a great friend left you empty, and you lifted up your eyes to work again. The great political debates left you breathless, and you recovered to help maintain a sound educational balance.

Now that you leave us, remember well the lessons learned here, for in Plainfield High School you have had the opportunity to grow through self expression in many fields. You have had the strength to conquer the trials of adolescence; now put this strength to test in the new fields you approach. We shall miss you, as the leaders, in this period of unrest, but shall move forward, knowing that the mark you have made for us will tempt us to reach even higher so that you will glory in the pride of this great school.

Wallace F. Gleason, Principal



MR. JOHN W. SIMPSON

ADVICE AND CONSENT — Mr. Simpson counsels Walter Brown.

JOHN W. SIMPSON

To John W. Simpson—teacher, advisor, and friend—the class of 1961 wishes to voice its appreciation for his wise guidance. Since he assumed our class leadership from Miss Newson in our junior year, he has communicated his interest in us and aided our class tremendously.

It has been his counsel and sympathetic understanding which have made our stay at P.H.S. so memorable. To him we offer our sincerest thanks.

GUIDANCE

Every day there is a steady flow of P. H. S. pupils in and out of the Guidance Department. They come from all classes and each one has a different future planned; yet, the helpful counselors willingly aid each and every person in his particular problem. These counselors are reservoirs of information concerning colleges, scholarships, and the business world.

Expert advice and useful information is handed out to all. The guidance office doors are always open to any student with a problem. The counselors work with the student from his freshman days to his graduation, planning his curriculum each year to suit his own personality. The counselor is more than a guidance director; he is a friend. The student finds in him a person to whom he can bring his problems, his hopes, and his plans. Yes, the guidance department is a necessary element of P. H. S.; without it there would be chaos and confusion.

DR. JEAN FRANCIS, Vice-Principal

ENGLISH

The English department, under the guidance of George R. Strub, endeavors to teach the students of Plainfield High School the elements of English both as a language per se and as an implement of some of the world's greatest literature. Each facet of the English course is designed with a purpose in mind, to have the student become aware of its importance and to make use of it later.

This year the Science Research Associates' reading course was added to the curriculum of the 4W classes. Its purpose is to improve the student's rate of reading and rate of comprehension. In addition, it enables the student to learn the correct way to read and take notes. This is just one of the many changes made each year by the English department to help its students keep up with the quickly changing demands of our society.

Other objectives of the department are to teach the students to organize their thoughts, follow instructions, listen effectively, and speak pleasantly and clearly.

GEORGE R. STRUB, Department Head

SOCIAL STUDIES

The glory that was Athens, birthplace of democracy . . . the horror wrought throughout the world by Mars, god of war . . . the youth of one who would later seek to rule the world . . . These are elements of history, part of the sum total of all that has combined to produce the world in which we live.

Interest in history began thousands of years ago and continues unabated today. Through courses in European History, United States History, and Problems of American Democracy, the student gains insight into the origins from which our system of government has evolved and the ways in which a republic functions.

To the individual interested in specialized studies, courses in economics, social psychology, and World Geography are available.

History is a subject which is never outdated because it is constantly being revised by new discoveries and enlarged with the addition of current events, which will become the history of tomorrow.

MARCIA T. WESTPFAHL, Department Head

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT—Left to right: A. Smith, V. Liske, J. Boyer, Department Head; G. Reck, K. Fritz, G. Bubrick, M. Bronstein, H. Gustafson.

MATHEMATICS

The mathematics department provides our students with a knowledge of the rudiments of mathematics to be used in college and in chosen vocations. For those who will not continue studies in mathematics, the department sponsors general mathematics courses. Students who are mathematics enthusiasts or those who will continue this subject in college can take Special Mathematics, which includes College Algebra, Trigonometry, Boolean Algebra, Analytic Geometry, and other advanced phases of this science.

To help achieve its goal, the department includes such projects as the Bell Laboratory Mathematics Program, the New Jersey State Mathematics Contest, and the nationwide contest sponsored jointly by the Mathematics Association of America and the Society of Actuaries.

JOHN H. BOYER, Department Head

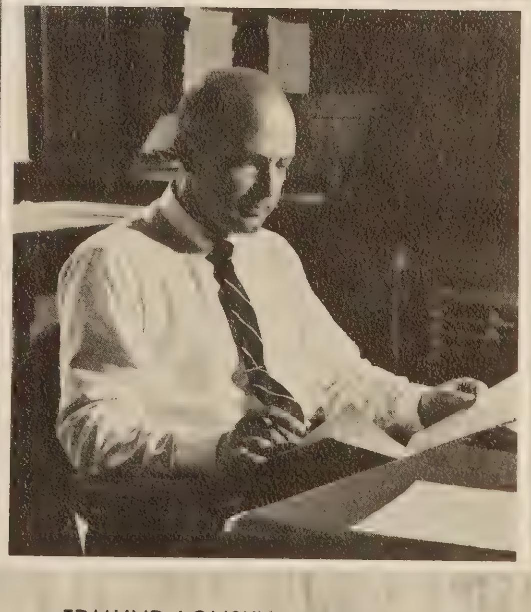
SCIENCE

This is the Scientific Age, when fiction can become fact in minutes. The pioneers of this age use chemicals rather than Conestoga wagons, but their purpose is the same—they are pushing back the boundaries of new horizons.

Never before has the need for scientists been so acute, and never has there been so much emphasis placed upon science at the secondary level. At Plainfield High, physics, biology, General Science, and chemistry courses are offered to interested students. In addition to texts, films, and other study helps, laboratories are provided in which one may practice "living" science.

This past summer, a number of students participated in Science in Industry, an effective vocational guide for those interested in a scientific career. Touring Squibb Medical Institute, National Starch, Esso Research Center, etc., these teenagers had the opportunity of seeing science as an integral part of industry and of participating in this work.



EDMUND LONSKY, Department Head

LANGUAGES

This year the Language Department has initiated a "change in objectives." More emphasis has been placed on oral ability. This change has been accomplished through the introduction of the Language Laboratory. All foreign language students are participating in this program. By making use of the laboratory, each pupil has the opportunity to improve his speaking ability. As a result of the introduction of the new laboratory, the conversational courses have been omitted.

In addition to instructions in speaking the language, instructions in reading and translating are also emphasized. Third and fourth year Latin students combine to study the writings of Virgil and Cicero.

Language students also participate in linguistic ability contests. Each year, in the spring, the French, German, and Spanish national contests are held; Latin students compete in the Baird Memorial Sight Translation Contest.

At the end of the year, students organize language banquets, at which time they can put their new skills to work.

INDUSTRIAL

HOME AND FINE ARTS

Hidden talents are often discovered in the Industrial, Home, and Fine Arts Department, for here students have an opportunity to work with their hands, as well as their heads, while acquiring practical experience.

By observing and doing, students prepare for their chosen fields. In Art they are taught Fundamentals and Design; in Home Arts, the aspects of good food, clothing, and attractive shelter are covered. The Modern Living course prepares students for good human relationships.

The boys who take Industrial Arts develop basic skills and can learn different trades in electric, machine, auto, metal, and woodwork shops, while handling tools and power machinery.

This is a department of action—with the good odors of food, the noise of machines, and the quiet that comes from the aesthetic side of life. It can be the incubator of tomorrow's good homemaker and excellent craftsmen so vital to our way of life.

KERMIT WHITEHEAD, Department Head

COMMERCIAL

If you have visions of yourself as the efficient person behind a typewriter, or as that successful business executive, you may depend upon the Commercial Department to prepare you for your chosen field.

A variety of courses is available to those students planning to venture into the business world. In addition to the basic subjects, typing and stenography, a course in general secretarial practice is available to the future secretary. An aspiring clerical worker has access to studies in business mathematics, clerical office practice, and bookkeeping. Specialized courses, such as Junior Business Training, Business Law and Merchandising, Salesmanship, and Economic Geography, are available to a student who wishes to strengthen his foundation in the commercial field.

It is the hope of the department head, Mrs. Ruth S. Wyer, that a course in shorthand for personal use will be added to the curriculum in the near future. A course of this type will instruct students in the skill of taking notes with accuracy and speed.

RUTH S. WYER, Department Head

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Every day, in the boys' and girls' gyms, students can be seen diligently applying themselves to games and exercises. These pupils learn to take care of their bodies as well as their minds. The Physical Education Department provides a varied course for all participants; and such programs as skills, games, fundamentals, and sports are included in the curriculum.

In addition to the physical training, students are also prepared in health and first aid. The driver education courses are also very helpful to the members of the student body. Pupils can get first hand instruction by practicing in a school car under the able instruction of our driver teachers. While the future drivers are practicing, they also take a course in the basic rules of the road and car safety. These courses enable the student to be a better driver in the future.

ABRAM E. SMITH, Department Head

MUSIC

MUSIC DEPARTMENT—F. Louis Hooker, Michael Sawczak.

Music is a message. It is the "Hallelujah" . . . joyful declaration of a living God . . . or a sad dirge of defeat at a football game. Rhythm stirs the senses, often to the point where adults begin muttering, "What ever happened to the gold old . . . ?" And we of the maligned younger generation may reiterate with a few choruses of "Barney Google."

The challenge given to our music teachers is that of instilling in youth an interest in, and knowledge of, enduring music. It is a link with the past, a memory of the future. Music is given to us today to enjoy for the rest of our lives.

LIBRARY

LIBRARY—Constance Smith, Assistant Librarian; Josephine E. Miller, Librarian.

"Where may I find a biography of Comte de Mirabeau?" "I need a book on the nervous system of the earthworm." Daily, our librarians, Josephine E. Miller and Constance Smith, aid students in research on any topic. From the vast array of books, magazines, and pamphlets available, the students find material ranging from Elizabethan poetry to vocational literature.

The fiction includes many recreational reading books for an enjoyable afternoon. A collection of films and records is used by the faculty and occasionally by the students. The library is kept up-to-date with current publications pertinent to the subjects taught and to the interest of the student body.

SECRETARIAL AND CLERICAL STAFF

About mid-November when the "colds" season is strongest, the sure indication of the severity of the epidemic is the three page, green absentee list. The monumental work involved in compiling this list each day is only one job performed by the secretarial and clerical staff. The able women on this staff carry out the immense "behind the scenes" paper work needed to operate our school efficiently.

Working with Mr. Gleason and Dr. Francis, or in the Placement, Counselor, or Attendance Offices, the staff does mimeographing, letter writing, transcribing of records, switchboard operating, stencil cutting, and telephoning. Equally helpful to the confused sophomore or the worried senior, the secretaries prove to be competent allies of the students and teachers.

CAFETERIA STAFF

In the kitchen the good odors of cooking waft through the air as mountains of food are prepared. Then, three times a day, invading hordes of hungry students raid the cafeteria for hot platters, sandwiches, milk, pies, and ice cream.

A resourceful staff of culinary artists daily meet this lunch rush with wholesome, well-balanced meals. Aided by government subsidies, the cafeteria staff is able to prepare a wide range of menus suitable to the teenage pocketbook.

CUSTODIAL STAFF

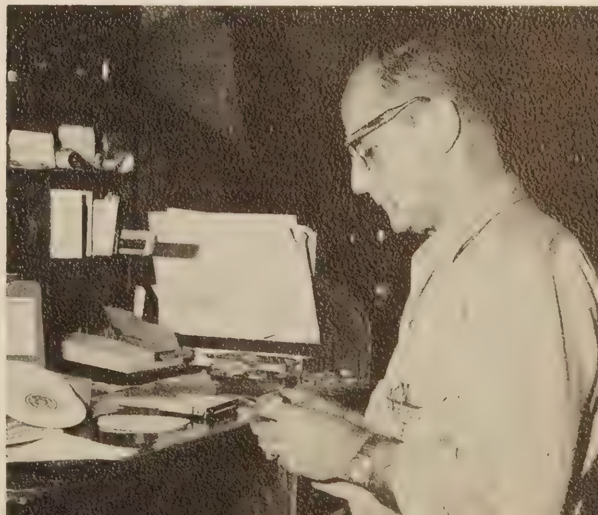
Do you think that by some miracle every morning the school suddenly becomes clean after a hectic day when 1500 students had trampled the floors? You're right! It is a miracle—performed by our custodial staff.

In addition to maintaining the school grounds, the staff disposes of the refuse from lunch periods and the mounds of paper from classwork; it also takes care of the heating and lighting of the school and the multitude of related duties.

Everyone knows how important first impressions are. Both our students and our town are proud to show to any visitor the attractive grounds and the clean and orderly buildings.

When you think of the disorder that one student alone makes, multiply it by 1500, square it, and give your thanks to the custodians.

MR. WALLACE "SHERLOCK" VAN HORN investigates equipment.



MR. JOHN BROADBENT, Head Custodian.

MISS MARIE WHELAN, School Nurse.

MEDICAL STAFF

Case history of Mary X: Woke up at 7:05 with a sore throat and headache . . . Attended school at 8:25 . . . Obtained a nurse's pass at 10:18 . . . Miss Marie Whelan, school nurse, sympathetically checked out Mary's story. At 10:45 Mary X was home resting. Diagnosis: head cold.

Such a case history is repeated with variations throughout the day. Every student who has been to the nurse's office will appreciate the cheerfulness and understanding of Miss Whelan.

Under our preventive medicine program, Dr. Day examines the students and checks the T.B. patch tests. Both he and Miss Whelan work effectively to safeguard the students and to maintain high standards of health.

The Essence

There is a time for looking back to laugh at past tragedies and to dwell on happy memories. Since the senior year is so filled with decisions and activities, the time for reminiscence is often short. Time has wings on its feet. Was it four years ago that we were freshmen?

The first days in high school—with the confusing one-way halls, the frustrating reams of forms to fill out, and the hundreds of new students to meet, didn't overwhelm us. Electing Janet Cass, Peter Mann, Sue Campbell, and Tom Disbrow as our officers, we organized our class into an ambitious and confident union. Our first social event, the Freshman Party, met with success.

Then came the year of the wise fools, a very successful year for assured sophomores. Our officials, Roy Resnikoff, Peter Mann, Jean LaRossa, and Tom Disbrow, led us in two prosperous fund-raising projects. As hosts to the student body, we held an enjoyable sophomore dance. To boost our scholarship fund, we held a sale of sweatshirt jackets, which proved lucrative. With eagerness we looked forward to equally productive upper-class years.

Our junior year was the year of the shiny class rings. We elected Peter Mann, Judy Hirsh, Jo-Ann Lopresti, and Tom Disbrow as our leaders. We filled our treasury by selling both hats and plastic covers for the yearbook; and we held the Winter

of Memories

Carnival, a semi-formal dance. As a class, we felt a deep sorrow over the untimely death of our principal, Mr. Warren H. Held.

In the fullness of time, we became seniors, proud of our past achievements and confident of new projects.

Certain members of our class developed English accents before the production of the Senior Play, Pygmalion, which provided a night of talent and amusement. Lamar Bomar, Susan Hayman, Jan Mitchell, and Frances Rendino, our elected officers, worked with Mr. Simpson, class advisor, and the Class Council to achieve a most successful end to our ventures. This was a year of notable "firsts." Because of the work of the previous Student Council, our class was host to a foreign exchange student from Singapore, Helen Christopher. Mr. Wallace F. Gleason soon became well-liked as our new principal.

Indeed, there is much to remember about our last year, especially the traditional events. After months of worrying about college acceptance or new vocations, we came to the magic month—June! There was a Senior Prom to remember, final exams to complete, and diplomas to receive. Now our high school career is but the essence of memories.

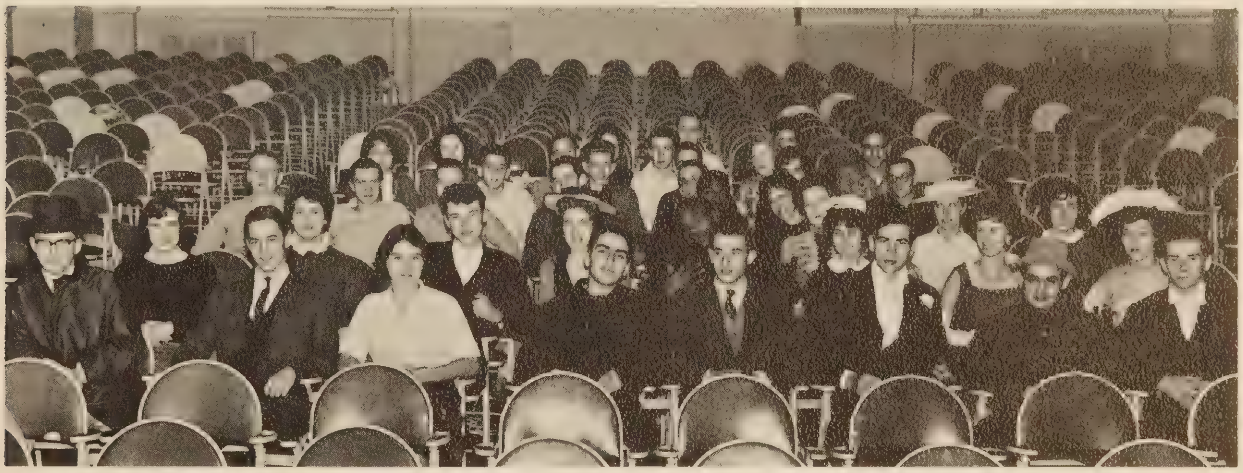
Pygmalion

Could Eliza Doolittle become a fair lady? Professor 'Enry 'Iggins wagered a bet with his crony, Colonel Pickering, that the professor could transform an ungainly, crude flower girl with a cockney accent into a lady of high society by the use of phonetics. This amusing tale results in the play by George Bernard Shaw, "Pygmalion," which was presented on November 4 and 5 at the high school auditorium.

Leading the cast are Diane Hinkely as Eliza; Welles Sumner as Professor Higgins; Robert Gaydos, the Colonel; Beth Ann Seidman as Mrs. Eynsford-Hill; Nancy Torbush as Miss Eynsford-Hill; Jerry Bloom as Freddy Eynsford-Hill; and Bernard Batshaw, the irrepressible Alfred Doolittle.

Many hard weeks of preparation by the cast, the stage crew, and all others involved set the scene for a most successful play. The cast, committee members, and the director, Miss Virginia Mixer, may say with pride, "By Jove, we did it."

"I'LL 'AVE YOU KNOW I'M A LYDEY, I AM!" — D. Hinkley, B. Batshaw and S. Upton.



"WELL, THAT'S OVER!" — The Cast and Crew.

"SO PLEASED TO MEET YOU." — W. Sumner, R. Burwell, R. Gaydos, D. Hinkley, B. Schaeffer, and E. Schwartz.

"YES, FREDDIE?" — B. Seidman, D. Hinkley, N. Torbush, R. Gaydos, and J. Bloom.

Senior Class Scholarship Awards

Following the pattern set by the three preceding seniors classes, the Class of 1961 has awarded scholarships to deserving students. This year the funds were divided among two members of the class.

LORRAINE CAROL AUGUST

Lorraine has been an active member of P.H.S. ever since she entered as a Freshman. She has participated in many activities, including Drama Club, Girls' Tennis, Milestone Advertising and Literary Staffs, Senior Privilege Committee, Student Council Publicity Committee, Senior Play Scenery Committee, and the Senior Class Scholarship Committee.

Even amidst all of these activities, Lorraine has found time for serious study and schoolwork, and she is an excellent student. She has been interested in science during her years at P.H.S. and hopes to enter college in the scientific research or biological field.

CHARLES EDWARD CARTER

According to Charles' counselor, he is "a fine, hard-working boy who is extremely courteous." This description fits in with Charles' course in high school. He has pursued a college preparatory course and among other subjects has successfully completed four years of math and English, three years of science, and three years of French.

In addition, he has been active in the Hi-Y, Chorus, Band, Track, and Wrestling. Charles has also been a homeroom officer for one year.

He has had a very good record in school and ranks in the top fifth of his class. After graduation, he hopes to go to college and major in business administration or economics.

Juniors Look to the Future

After two years of waiting impatiently, we could call ourselves upperclassmen. Looking back in time, we recall elevator tickets and heckling juniors.

We confidently elected William Burfeind, Robert Sikowski, Gail Garrett, and Harriett Carmichael to assume leadership. Mr. Edmond Lonsky served as class adviser. We became acquainted with our classmates at the Freshman Party.

To head our group during our sophomore year, we elected William Burfeind, Robert Sikowski, Marianne Engler, and Harriett Carmichael. That year we sponsored the successful dance, "A Night in the Orient." Our class adviser, Mr. Gilbert Young, offered guidance and encouragement. With one more year of experience in our pockets, we felt that we were able to do anything.

As juniors, we proudly wore our class rings, which were marks of distinction. To enter into the school spirit, we sold P. H. S. pennants in the cafeteria and at football games. Executives this year were Jerry Stiles, Rose Hamrah, Marianne Engler, and Harriett Carmichael. The junior dance, "Silver Snowball," highlighted the year.

Our past and present have been related, and the future is now foremost in our thoughts. As seniors, we look forward to a glorious year.

Sophomores Plan Projects

This was a year that began with anticipation and expectation. The "up" and "down" stairways, crowded halls, and worldly upperclassmen did not dampen our enthusiasm. After becoming acquainted with our classmates, we elected Mary Crowe, Peter Ciampa, Carol Belardo, and Lee Merrill as our officers. They worked with our class council and our advisor, Mr. Otto, in planning long-range projects and goals to make our class the best yet. The year of the wise fools is over, and we look with eagerness to the year of the class rings—both the thrill and the responsibility of being upperclassmen.

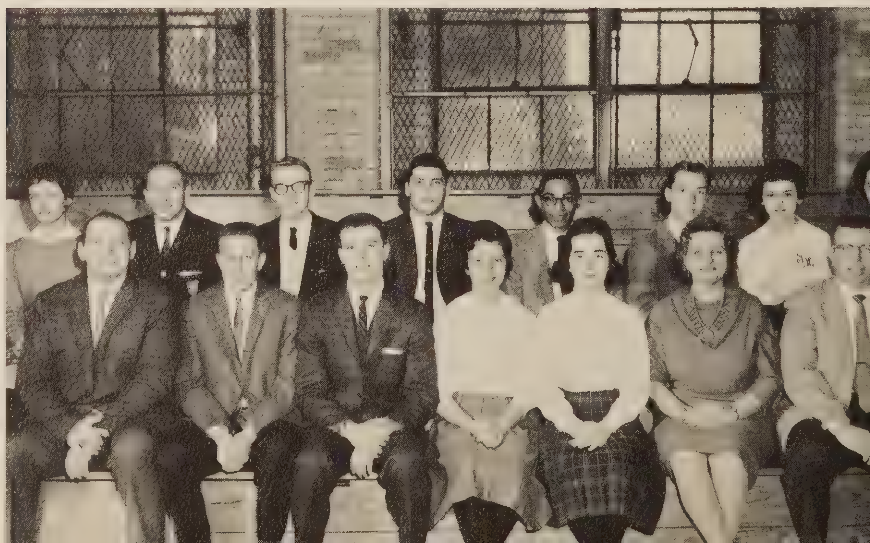
Cooperation Between

Government of the students, by the students, and for the students is the main policy of the Student Council of P. H. S. The students elect their own representatives, who can bring up any matter of school concern, from organizing a "litterbug" committee to sponsoring a foreign exchange student from Singapore. This organization, headed by Mr. George Reck, maintains the link between faculty and students.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

The Atomic Age teenager has many important decisions to make. In addition to trying to get the keys to the car or a new dress from a benevolent parent, most students are involved in decisions regarding school matters. To make things a bit easier for all students, the Executive Council, directed by G. Reck, is vitally concerned with the welfare of Plainfield High and those who attend.

First Row: Mr. Reck, P. Mann, T. Disbrow, J. LaRosa, P. Flanagan, Dr. Francis, Mr. Kern. Second Row: N. Mehl, M. Sanders, B. Burfeind, M. Leibowitz, L. Bomar, J. Stiles, J. Cass, M. Crowe.



USHER SQUAD

What might become a total maelstrom is kept down to organized confusion by the members of the Usher Squad, headed by H. Banta. Stationed at their posts before the onslaught, these students valiantly fight the battle of the lost buddy, emerging victorious only as the last student straggles out the door.

First Row: P. Franceschetti, C. Bantle, E. Bryant, C. Onque, P. Golub, S. Heyman, J. Bartlett, A. Semanshik, Mr. Banta. Second Row: J. Perrin, J. Cass, J. Bohlen, B. Seidmon, D. Neisel, M. Students and Faculty

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE

Many hours of work go into planning and carrying out an assembly, and the finished product is a combination of ideas from the members of the Assembly Committee.

These students do everything, from making soup to cracking nuts; they paint signs, construct sets, make programs, design scenery, and handle every other minute detail that is involved in putting together an assembly.

The aim of this committee, with Miss Rita Kramer and Mr. William Gimbel as advisors, is to present assemblies that are both educational and enjoyable.

AIR RAID SQUAD

This group consists of juniors and seniors chosen by the Student Council. The duties of the members include keeping order and silence in the corridors and keeping students away from glassed-in areas when air raid drills are held. Mr. Henry Banta is the club's advisor.

First Row: S. Campbell, T. Clash, C. Craig, D. Rue, N. Mehl, Mr. Banta. Second Row: G. Naismith, M. Addis, T. Hazell, R. Resnikoff, J. Stiles. Third Row: B. Pfefferkorn, T. Disbrow, K. Burgess, T. Merritt, M. Leibowitz, P. Mann.

The Entrée Presents . . .

The publication of our school newspaper, the Entrée, is by no means an easy job. Many hours of notetaking, writing, typing, copyreading, proofreading, and headline-writing go into an issue.

This "voice" of the school keeps our students aware of activities and events connected with P. H. S. Writing for it is a valuable experience for all aspiring young journalists.

Mr. J. Peltzman, the advisor, guides the students in their assignments.

ENTRÉE BUSINESS STAFF

The Madison Ave. AD-MEN of the high school—minus the ulcers, but not the enthusiasm—procure the necessary advertisements to finance the Entrée. Under the direction of A. Hamilton Otto, the efficient staff does the background work of picking up and assembling copy, collecting funds from advertisers, and distributing copies of the Entrée to other schools throughout the country.

MILESTONE EDITORIAL STAFF

MILESTONE EDITORIAL STAFF—First Row: E. Carney, advisor; R. Lenhard, S. Hesse, K. Close, C. Himmler, J. Gunst, S. Smith, V. Lindes, S. Fleishman. Second Row: L. August, J. Croat, H. Creating Through the Printed Word

Creativity comes in many guises. It is the snowflake whose pattern is different from all those that have ever fallen. It is the painter whose brush can show us Main Street on a summer's day. Through the printed word and picture, the Milestone editorial staff, advised by Mr. E. Carney, endeavors to achieve this height of creativity.

MILESTONE BUSINESS STAFF—First Row: Mr. W. Sterling, J. Hirsh, R. Berger, S. Fleishman, S. Johnson, E. Bryant, B. Polsky, J. Bohlen, V. Bauer, D. Hyman, R. Hamrah, J. Croat. Second Row: J. Rosenberg, M. Nichuck, L. Evans, S. Krystopic, P. Kirchofer, K. Benick, M. Kaulfman, J. Miller, D. Hefler, M. Kahn, J. Weinraub. Third Row: L. Carlson, N. Torbush, E. Craig, H. Carmichael, D. Neisel, J. Howell, C. Edwards, J. Young, J. Herzog, N. Barrett, E. Whale. Fourth Row: P. Morley, K. Humphrey, P. Spiegel, G. Darish, J. Roman, B. Carter, E. Michaels, L. Lewis, P. Gabriel, T. Cuccaro, L. Smith.

MILESTONE BUSINESS AND ADVERTISING STAFFS

Thanks to the excellent supervision of Mr. Warren Sterling, advisor to the Milestone Business Staff, his competent staff and responsible home room agents have made possible this memory laden 1961 Milestone. A big factor in the success of this yearbook has been you, the consumer, who invested your money in the Milestone, making possible the extra features which you find in this edition of the P. H. S. yearbook.

Our Advertising Staff, with the competent direction of Mr. Arthur Smith, turned in its usual excellent job this year. If it were not for this diligent group, the Milestone could not operate, and we would be without a representative publication. Thanks for a job well done!

Sing Along with Me . . .

Neither rain, nor sleet, nor snow can keep our dedicated chorus members from their appointed rounds, which are made during the Wednesday activity period.

Their dedication paid off, as we were aware, at Christmas time and in the spring at their annual Choral Festivals. In addition, at Christmas, the small mixed chorus presented concerts for the junior high schools, the Old Guard, and the Rotary Club.

In the spring, both choruses joined with the other choral groups to present the Spring Concert which, this year, presented serious choral work and selections from the music of George Gershwin.

GIRLS' CHORUS

The Girls' Chorus provides many girls a chance to work and sing together. Under the direction of Mr. Hooker, they learn many different types of songs as well as methods of presenting them in a beautiful and effective way. They have sung in some assemblies, in the Choral Festival, and for several outside organizations.

BOYS' CHORUS

Monday and Wednesday rehearsals make the Boys' Chorus what it is today. Under the direction of Mr. Louis Hooker, they gather to prepare musical selections ranging from enduring classical works to the latest popular music. These selections are performed at varied outside engagements and choral programs throughout the year.

BAND

As Mr. Sawczak gives the downbeat, members of the P. H. S. band fill the air with pleasant music. Eighth period, each day, finds the band hard at work learning half-time routines for our football games and preparing for pep rallies, assemblies, their annual spring concert, and parades. What's more, a P. H. S. dance band has been added this year. Whether we are listening to "Go, Plainfield, Go," or our "Alma Mater," all of us realize that these music makers are an important part of our school.

"LA-A-A-A"—L. Hooker, M. Sawczak.

KEYBOARD CAPERS—L. Hooker, M. Sawczak.

First Row: P. Young, D. Surburg, B. Bareford. Second Row: D. Carlson, S. Helwig, S. Voorhees, B. Fitch. Third Row: R. Gerzoff, J. Della Russo, S. Shoemacker.

FUTURE NURSES' CLUB

Neither fever nor flu will daunt these girls of the Future Nurses' Club. Under the guidance of Mrs. Eleanor Henderson, the members have movies and discussions of the hospital and college training courses. Field trips and hospital volunteer work help prepare the girls for their future careers.

STUDENT STORE

For anyone who's in the market for school supplies of any size, shape, or kind, the student store is readily available. All students may use its facilities. Established for the convenience of the students and headed by Mr. Julius Senyshyn, the student store saves many a student a trip to the neighborhood store.

J. Robertson, D. Surburg, Mr. Senyshyn, L. Phillips, P. Conger, G. Weber.

Seated: D. Rue, S. Tarpy, R. Macaulay, F. Sandquist. Standing: S. Brown, A. Bomberger, D. Spar, C. Lustig, D. Fraser.

RADIO CLUB

The Radio Club, under the direction of Mr. Pearson, affords an opportunity for those who have their radio operator's licenses to communicate with fellow "hams" throughout the U. S. and the world. The "sans licensees" are aided in learning the Morse code, radio laws, and this fascinating activity.

CHESS CLUB

The Chess Club, under the direction of Mr. R. Booher and Mr. A. E. Smith, meets once a week. This club gives students who are interested in chess an opportunity to compete with other students, and to exchange techniques and ideas.

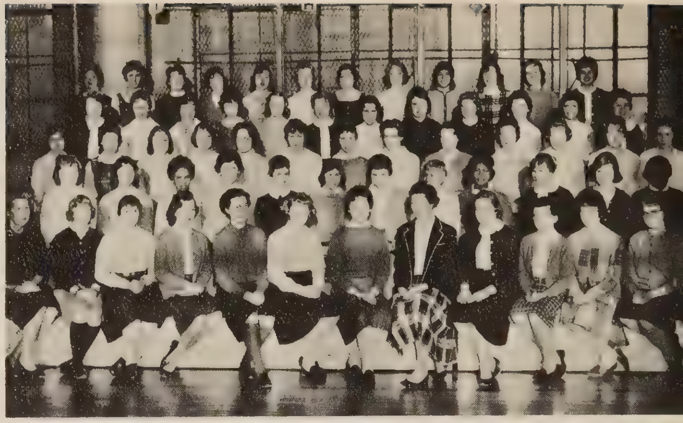
GIRLS' LEADERS CLUB

If you're a gym enthusiast and enjoy participating in gym activities, then you are partly qualified for Girls' Leaders. The other qualification is leadership ability. If you possess these qualities, then consider yourself capable of joining Girls' Leaders. Under the direction of Mrs. Ruth King, this club assists in gym programs and related activities.



First Row: Mrs. King, R. Putsche, M. Reister, C. Doty, S. Upton, S. Helwig, J. Lopresti, H. Hinman, B. Bareford, J. Vaccaro, J. Weinraub, B. Polsky, R. Fundis. Second Row: A. Semanchik, M. JUNIOR CLASSICAL LEAGUE

Miss Eleanor Horn, sponsor, states that the J. C. L.'s purpose is to "keep alive the interest in Latin." This purpose has been carried out through such activities as the Annual State Convention, a Christmas Party, the Latin banquet, and special programs presented by guest speakers. This group presents an annual gift of toys and clothes to a Kentucky school.

FIRE DRILL SQUAD

The Fire Drill Squad is responsible for seeing that every student leaves the building quickly and quietly during fire drills. It also has the responsibility of seeing that all classroom windows and doors are closed. These reliable members, students from the junior and senior classes, are chosen by the Student Council and directed by Mr. Henry Banta.

First Row: D. DeAndrea, R. Fundis, K. Teets, B. Fitch, B. Helmer. Second Row: J. Minet, V. Vail, E. Fikker, J. Korchsen, E. Bryant, J. Feinstein, H. Manderson. Third Row: M. Riveles, G. LIBRARY COUNCIL

Students able to find biographies of Schopenhauer, shelve twelve books in the 800's, decode and deliver passes, and work behind the desk are among the members of the Library Council. Under the supervision of Miss Josephine Miller, the members maintain the smooth functioning of the library, keeping available to the student body the rich resources of material.

STAGE ELECTRICIANS

What would we have done if, during the presentation of "Pygmalion," all the lights failed to go on? However, this could never happen since we have such capable stage electricians, the men behind the scenes. These boys are responsible for lighting effects in assemblies, shows, and dances. The group, under the direction of Mr. Eric Nelson, also takes charge of and keeps stage equipment in good condition.

A group of interested students meet once a week to read and discuss their creative writing. Under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Rasmussen, the club elected editors to co-ordinate the articles. During the year the club hopes to publish a literary magazine for the school.

NEWS BUREAU

Did you ever wonder who is responsible for the articles in the Courier-News describing school events to the public? Well, you can credit these services to the members of the P. H. S. News Bureau. Under the supervision of Mr. John Simpson, those students ably keep the public informed of the activities at P. H. S.

First Row: L. Blecher, Mr. Simpson, B. Seidmon. Second Row: M. Lawler, P. Street, J. Oroshnik, L. Evans. Third Row: A. Gartenberg, I. Esteves, E. Statham, B. Glass, R. Sulzberg.

PROJECTION SQUAD

"Ah, a movie!" Yes . . . and a member of the Projection Squad is showing it. These boys give up valuable study halls to show movies to the lucky students in classrooms and in the auditorium. They not only learn how to operate the visual aid equipment from their able advisor, Mr. Eric Nelson, but also assist in making the education in Plainfield High a well-rounded one.

FUTURE TEACHERS

Students interested in entering the teaching field find the Future Teachers of America Club interesting and helpful. The faculty advisor to the club is Mrs. Judith Henehan. The students are assisted in choosing subjects to teach and in selecting the proper grade levels. The activities of the club include listening to various speakers, seeing educational films, and practicing teaching.

Grid Men Have an Off Year

Plainfield High's varsity football team completed a difficult season by losing its last game to a powerful Westfield contingent. The 14-7 reversal gave Coach Abe Smith's team a 4-5 seasonal log, its first losing season since 1953. Highlights of the season were a deflected pass for the deciding touchdown in the unsuccessful Barringer game, and a hard-fought 7-6 victory over Linden. Standouts of the season were Mike Leibowitz, Don Twine, and John Gallo on offense; and Ray Mines, Richard Ricci, and John Taylor on defense. But wait! Next year is coming!

Brann Men Hit Victory Trail

Under the tutelage of Bill Brann, this year's varsity basketball squad bounced back from the worst season in its history to record a very respectable 12 and 8 slate.

Highlights of the season were twin victories over arch-rival Westfield, a big win over tough Union, and a victory over a new opponent, Scotch Plains. In the Union County Tourney the Cards breezed by Sacred Heart only to lose to Cranford by one point in the quarter finals. In the State tournament the team logged a 1 and 2 record.

This year's team was led by the rebounding Hammond brothers—Ted and Frank—and a trio of excellent little men: Ben Ellis, Bill Terry, and Augie Grace. A capable bench led by Jerry Hunter, Ron Shrager, and Paul Horwitz proved invaluable when injury struck the first five.

Seniors appearing for the final time include Ted Hammond, Bill Terry, Ben Ellis, Augie Grace, Jerry Hunter, Ron Shrager, Paul Horwitz, Rich Lewis, and Paul Witteman.

Natators Extend Victory Streak

For the twenty-seventh consecutive year, the PHS swimming team, under the guidance of Coach Vic Liske, maintained a winning record. A 9-3 dual meet mark was enhanced by a sixth place showing in the State Meet.

Arthur Sobel, who placed fifth in the backstroke in the State Meet, established a new pool record for the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 1:05.2. Records were also broken by the 160-yard medley and free-style relay teams and the 200-yard medley relay. Seniors Art Sobel, Bill Norton, and George Nevius teamed with junior Frank Meeks to post the medley relays times; while a team of Mike Rosenberg, Dave Granstrom, Nels Lippert, and Chris Phelps annexed the free-style record.

Other seniors who contributed to the team's success were Frank Darish, Bill Hoblitzell, George Hutchinson, Chuck Little, Ron Burwell, and Jerry Bloom. Junior divers Al Cosner and Tim Hazell fifth and sixth respectively in the State Meet, and swimmers Mike MacLaury, Lou Schwartz, Bill Switky Mike Abramson, and Jeff Simon will serve as a backbone for next year's team.

A first place in the district championships highlighted an already successful season for the PHS grapplers. Under the tutelage of Coach John Pepe, the Cards amassed a 9-3 record.

Charlie Higgins, Alex Stripto, Roger Cassett, Jerry Ward, Jack Liddy, Lou Christman, and Bill Petties all concluded winning seasons by capturing individual district championships in their respective divisions. The other weight assignments were filled by Joe Tozzi, Pat Vastino, Hugh Brown, Norm Krystopik, and Mike Leibowitz. Reserve strength was supplied by Art Upperman, Earl Waugh, Bob Kremer, and Wally Brown.

With six of the seven district winners returning, the Cards look forward to another bright season.

The season's highlight was the state championship won by Roger Cassett in the 130 pound class.

Netmen Still Victorious

Under the capable hand of Coach Gil Young, the P.H.S. tennis team enjoyed a very successful 9 and 5 season. Rod Merrill, Tom Clash, Jim Dunn, Ted MacDermott, and Roger North filled the first five singles slots; the doubles were handled by the Dave Black-Skip Craig tandem as well as by the MacDermott-DuBow tandem.

The prospects for the '61 season are very good. Seniors Ted MacDermott and Fred DuBow will be teaming with veterans Tom Clash, David Black, Skip Craig, and Roger North. Also deserving credit for their fine performances are Ron Shrager, Bill Switky, Rich Kohn, Joel Koblentz, Pete Brown, Mike Addis, and Jerry Bloom.

Diamond Men in Rebuilding Year

Plainfield High School's 1960 Varsity Baseball team got off to a late start because of bad weather and finished the season with a 4 and 11 record. This year is a rebuilding year.

The team had only three returning lettermen—Dick Greenwood, Al Smith, and Al Griffin. Most noticeable loss was Stan Stagaard, the star centerfielder with a .396 batting average. The high point of the season came when the Liddymen won three of the last four games. After a see-saw battle against Westfield, the Cards triumphed; Woodbride fell to some well-placed doubles and the relief pitching of John Roman. Following a tough 3 to 1 loss to Linden, Plainfield won its last game of the season, beating Bridgewater 7 to 6.

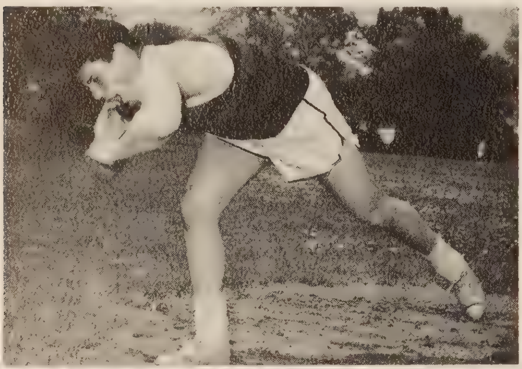
"PUT IT IN ORBIT!"—Mike Leibowitz puts the shot 'way out.



UP AND OVER — Ernest Wilson clears the hurdles.

In many minds, coach Marshall Brown's 1960 indoor and outdoor track teams will go down as the greatest in New Jersey's history. Unbeaten in dual meet competition, the team added firsts in the Union County Relays, the N. J. State Indoor Championships, and the Cardinal Hayes Relays. They placed second in the Eastern Interscholastic Meet, and second in the National High School Meet in Madison Square Garden. The team was led by Herm Johnson in the hurdles and high jump; and the 880-relay team of Walter Goodwin, Arthur Freeman, James Anderson, and Joe Newton. A highlight in 1961 was Ernest Wilson's outstanding performance in the National High School Championship Meet, where he placed first in the 60-yard high hurdles and third in the high jump.

THE 880 RELAY TEAM—Houston Cabbel, Don Twine, and Ernest Wilson.

Under the direction of a new coach, Robert Schultz, the 1960 Plainfield High cross-country track team has compiled an enviable record. Led by captain Ronnie Williams, Ralph Harper, and Augie Grace, the team was unbeaten in eleven dual meets. They gained added laurels by placing first in the Union County Meet, first in the Central Jersey Championships, and fourth in the N. J. State Interscholastic Meet. Other seniors are James Dunn and Tom Foster.

Cheerleaders

Our vivacious cheerleaders, led by captain Janet Cass and co-captain Sue Campbell, have enlivened school spirit at our football and basketball games, pep rallies, and pep assemblies. Under the leadership of Miss Joyce, the six junior and six senior girls have worked hard to encourage team spirit at P.H.S.

Twirlers

With the advent of autumn, comes the football season; and with the latter we associate high spirits, color, and excitement. To help create this mood, the P.H.S. Twirling Squad is at every game and pep rally to help cheer our team to victory. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Shirley Vogel, these girls do a commendable job of providing entertainment for the spectators and maintaining high spirit and pep at our football games.

Girls' Sports

Only girls accompanied by bows and arrows are allowed in the girls' large gym on Monday and Wednesday afternoons. Archery is one of a varied program of after-school sports for girls which is sponsored by the Physical Education Department. It is the only program for which equipment is provided. The girls supply whatever they need for tennis, swimming, and golf. Golf is the newest sport, begun just this year. The girls enjoy this game and tennis during the fall and spring months. Swimming is a favorite in the spring. Thus, with the exception of swimming, such a program gives P.H.S. girls a chance to develop proficiency in popular sports which are not included in the curriculum.

In Retrospect . . .

Precious, ever-lingering memories are all that remain of four eventful years at high school. So swiftly passed our senior year that time is needed to reflect on our impressions. This year is notable in many important ways. Mr. Wallace Gleason became well-known and respected as our new principal. We were the delighted hosts of our foreign exchange student, Helen Christopher. 1960-61 will be remembered as the year of a hard-hitting Presidential campaign and the beginning of the "New Frontier." Unrest and turmoil in the world saw crises in the Congo, Cuba, Laos, Berlin, and the United Nations. What kind of year has it been? Well, let's look at the record.

September—Suddenly, the long, blissful summer was over and students returned from the shore, the mountains, or jobs. New teachers, classes, books—and assignments—brought us back to reality. Our first assembly was held inducting the Student Council officers, with Peter Mann as president. The pep rally heralded the football season; Mr. Gleason led us in rafter-ringing cheers. Bargain-wise students bought S.A.T.'s and waited for the first Entrée. At the United Nations, Americans watched in horror at the antics of Premier Khrushchev and cohorts.

October—The annual stockyard scene in the auditorium was only the T.B. patch test. The Fall Mixer was the first big social event. We elected Student Council representatives. Democrats and Republicans debated in the halls, while a campaign "first" was established in the famed television debates. To add to the excitement, Vice-President Nixon visited Plainfield.

November—Horrors! the first report cards. "Who made the honor roll?" The Milestone campaign and ensuing controversy were kicked off. The Senior Play was given to enthusiastic crowds. Campaign fever was at a peak; everyone wore buttons and sported stickers. The school held a mock election and voted John Fitzgerald Kennedy into office. On November 18 the nation did the same.

December—The first of the college boards kept many seniors bleary-eyed. The annual D.A.R. good citizenship election was held, electing Jeanne LaRossa. The first blizzard came before winter even began. "Would this snow ever melt? But what a white Christmas!" The mixed Chorus sang carols at our Christmas assembly while Nativity Tableaux were shown.

January—Carefully typed letter were sent to first, second, and third choice colleges; and the great wait began. This winter makes the one in 1888 "child's play"—not one blizzard but three, plus how many snow storms? The nation and the world bade farewell to President Eisenhower and hailed the new chief. J.F.K. impressed the world with his inaugural address. Jackie's pill-box hat and simple dresses are all the rage!

February—The Congo crisis was daily in the headlines. The status and strength of the United Nations was questioned. Students took the United Nations test to participate in a nation-wide contest. Mr. Sierge talked to seniors about summer and permanent employment. "How will this recession affect me? Will I be one of the $5^1/_2$ million unemployed?" George Washington had a birthday, and we had a vacation.

March—Gone was the promise of an early spring —the lion was roaring! Students attended vocational conferences of all kinds, from agriculture to dentistry. The Student Council campaign began with petitions and speeches. Clever and zany posters spilled over the bulletin boards and appeared in surprising places before students decided the results on the voting machines. The Drama Club presented the Interclass Play Tournament. Kennedy announced the beginning of a Youth Peace Corps.

April — Easter vocation — over too soon. "How many more days until . . . ?" Mailmen were pounced upon and raided by nervous seniors. Letters saying, "We are pleased to inform you that you have been accepted for the Class of 1965," made the future suddenly bright. A combination of spring fever and Senioritis made studying difficult.

May — This mild, merry month was greeted by emancipated wool-wearing students. Light and bright cottons now! The Choral Festival was a high spot to remember. A serious tone ended the month with the Memorial Day Assembly.

June—The night of nights came and passed as some dream. The Senior Dinner and Prom . . . "Exams? There ought to be a law! What did we learn in history in October?" Signing yearbooks was the number one occupation. Caps and gowns, the eternal symbol of growing up . . . the last farewell to the favorite teacher . . . the friends, the classmates . . . the future?

JCL Meets January 23; Plans Business, Singing

Monday, January 23, is the date of the next meeting of the Junior Classical league after school in the cafeteria, according to Miss Eleanor Horn and Mrs. Anne K. Campolattano, sponsors of JCL.

The program will include a business meeting with singing afterwards by Sandra Smith. In addition, the report of tomorrow's executive council meeting in Westfield will be given. Representing Plainfield high are Judith Durant, state parliamentarian and Sandra, who is in charge of singing program.

The arrangements for the next executive council meeting Saturday, March 4, at PHS will also be discussed at Monday's meeting.

The officers of the Plainfield high school JCL include Rose Marie Hamrah, consul; Rosalind Sulzberg, proconsul; Carol Ann Marcus, scriba; Ami Friedburg, quaestor; Nancy Aufrecht, parliamentarian; and Robert Leavitt, program chairman.

Sabra Upton and Donald Weingarten are now in Washington as guests of the Plainfield Optimist Club viewing the inauguration of Pres. John F. Kennedy.

Upton, Weingarten View Inauguration; Optimists Sponsor Washington Trip

Two seniors of Plainfield high school left for a two-day trip to Washington, D. C., yesterday sponsored and paid for by the Plainfield Optimists club. There they will attend the inauguration of John F. Kennedy, which takes place today. Accompanying them is Mrs. Marcia Westpfahl, head of the social studies department in PHS.

These two, Sabra Upton and Donald Weingarten, were chosen from a panel of six students selected by the social studies teachers according to excellence in achievement and interest in government politics. Also considered were Joe Ellen Bronstein, David Davis, Fred DuBow and Virginia Lindes.

The final selection was made by Victor Podesta, superintendent of the city schools, Judge Clement and Harold Rosenberg, and Dr. Lubin of the Optimists club. The tickets to the inauguration were donated by New Jersey Senator Clifford P. Case.

The students will do some sightseeing in Washington if time permits, and they will return this evening.

"It was so exciting to watch the campaign and to see who won the election," commented Sabra, "that it is a great privilege to be able to attend the dramatic climax of the presidential race, the inauguration."

Held Book Collection

Members of the Held Memorial Book Collection committee are now making a list of books to be purchased in the near future as an addition to the present collection, according to Miss Josephine Miller, librarian.

The purpose of the committee is to buy books for the Held Memorial, which was established last year as a result of the donations from students, teachers and friends of the late principal, Warren H. Held. The initial purchase of books was made last spring.

"We welcome any suggestions by students about books the students would like to see in the library," remarked Miss Miller.

"There is only one thing which will really train the human mind, and that is the voluntary use of the mind by the man himself. You may aid him, you may guide him, you may suggest to him, and, above all you may inspire him; but the only thing worth having is that which he gets by his own exertions, and what he gets is proportionate to the effort he puts into it." — Lowell.
